He was in fact a town boy, born in Gont Port. He had said nothing about himself, but Dulse had asked around a bit. The father, a longshoreman, had died in the big earthquake, when Silence would have been seven or eight; the mother was a cook at a waterfront inn. At twelve the boy had got into some kind of trouble, probably messing about with magic, and his mother had managed to prentice him to Elassen, a respectable sorcerer in Valmouth. There the boy had picked up his true name, and some skill in carpentry and farmwork, if not much else; and Elassen had had the generosity, after three years, to pay his passage to Roke. That was all Dulse knew about him. They listened to him, not agreeing, not denying, but accepting his despair. His words went into. ant-.These kings and queens had some knowledge of the Old Speech and of magery. Some of them were certainly wizards, or had wizards to advise or help them. But magic in The Deed of Enlad is an erratic force, not to be relied on. Morred was the first man, and the first king, to be called Mage..Weary, evil dreams of suffocation came to him, but took no hold on him. He breathed deep. He slept at last. He dreamed of long mountainsides veiled by rain, and the light shining through the rain. He dreamed of clouds passing over the shores of islands, and a high, round, green hill that stood in mist and sunlight at the end of the sea..the way and was wandering without heed. He talked, turning sometimes to Otter to guide him or warn.in that house as the centuries passed through it. And still the ninth Master of Roke is the.little wisdom or gentleness with him. Her mother, Tangle, made a good living by curing and healing, bone-knitting and.Tuly shared it with him for a long time, since she could see her son only by lying to her husband, which she found hard to do. She wept to think of Diamond hungry, sleeping hard. Cold nights of autumn were a misery to her. But as time went on and she heard him spoken of as Diamond the sweet singer of the West of Havnor, Diamond who had harped and sung to the great lords in the Tower of the Sword, her heart grew lighter. And once, when Golden was down 'at South Port, she and Tangle took a donkey cart and drove over to Easthill, where they heard Diamond sing the Lay of the Lost Queen, while Rose sat with them, and Little Tuly sat on Tuly's knee. And if not a happy ending, that was a true joy, which may be enough to ask for, after all..''You went wrong. You've come back. But you're tired, Irioth, and the way's hard when you go alone..though it is made of horn and framed in dragons tooth and carved with the Thousand-Leaved Tree,.thoughtful look..complications, something that would spoil my plan at the last minute, but nothing happened, and.''Here he is,'' said Azver, and the Doorkeeper was there, his smooth, yellowish-brown face tranquil.cobbled, he heard voices..altogether. . . I was just going when you sat down."
